Put the Pictures in Order

Two four-card stories. Letters are answer references, not step numbers.

Print the two card sheets, then cut the outside rectangle and two center lines.

Keep each story in its own four-card pile. Shuffle one pile before playing.

Find the beginning, then place the other pictures in order from left to right.

Say what changes between pictures. Start with first and last if four is too much.

These cards show a picture story, not gardening instructions or measured growing times.
