Fruit Picture Hunt

Six large picture cards and one matching checklist.

Print the cards and checklist single-sided at actual size, in portrait orientation. An adult cuts along the straight shared grid: the six cards are each 79 x 70 mm. Keep the checklist whole; no separate backs are needed.

An adult chooses one familiar indoor play area and hides the six picture cards before the game. Keep them visible enough to discover and within easy reach, away from stairs, water, hot surfaces, plugs and breakable items. No climbing or opening cupboards is part of the game.

Show the child the checklist and the agreed search boundary. Look for the paper pictures only. When a picture is found, tick the same picture on the checklist. Leave the card in place for another child, or bring it to the adult if playing alone.

Find all six and compare the ticks with the separate picture-check page. There is no fixed hiding-place answer: the adult chooses safe positions each round. For an easier game place all cards in plain sight on reachable furniture.

For another round erase the ticks or print another checklist and move the same six cards. Count the cards back in at the end. This is an indoor picture game, not a request to find real animals, food or outdoor objects.
