An Indoor Toy Picture Hunt

Six hidden printed cards and one checklist per child.

Print the six-card sheet once and one checklist for each player. At actual size each card is 80 x 65 mm. Trim the block, then cut its shared straight grid. Leave the checklists whole.

An adult places all six cards in visible, reachable spots in one agreed indoor area. Decide the boundary before starting. Place cards where children can point to them without moving furniture, climbing or opening containers.

Show the checklist. Children look for the matching printed cards and tick each picture they find. Leave the cards in place when several children are searching, so everyone can find the complete set.

Finish after all six different pictures are ticked. The checklist has the same artwork as the hidden cards. This is not a search for real toys, and there are no clues to read or a fixed route to follow.

For a tabletop version, spread all cards face up and match them to the checklist. Make the search shorter by hiding only three cards and covering the unused checklist pictures with spare paper.
